FUNDING & SUPPORT

What can DHS provide when I leave school?	In Victoria DHS provides 'Futures for Young Adults' or 'Transition to Employment' funding. Futures for Young Adults funding aims to support people to try a range of options and provides funding for 3 years (18 to 21). Transition to Employment provides funding for 12 months for intensive support to people interested in post-school education and employment but not ready to move directly into employment. You must live in Victoria, be 18 to 21 years old and receiving funded disability support at school. You need to register with DHS to access these programs. Contact DHS Intake and Response on 1800 783 783 or TTY 1800 008 149.
What can ADHC provide when I leave school?	In NSW ADHC provides 'Community Participation' or 'Transition to Work' funding. Community Participation is for young people with moderate to high support needs who may need a different option to paid employment or further education such as community activities and life skill development. Transition to Work is a two year program for school leavers who need support to make the transition from school to work or further education. You must live in NSW, have completed Year 12 and undertaken an eligibility assessment. Teachers or consultants in schools carryout the eligibility assessments so speak with your school to apply. For more information call 1800 761 030 or contact your local ADHC office.
What can Centrelink provide?	There are many types of Centrelink funding such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Disability Support Pension • Austudy/ABSTUDY • Education Entry Payment- for those on the Disability Pension • Health Care Card- to provide discounts • Mobility Allowance- for those unable to use public transport • Pensioner Education Supplement- for those on the Disability Pension Visit your nearest Centrelink office to find out if you are eligible for any of these or call 13 27 17.

TERTIARY EDUCATION

What is Tertiary education?	Accredited education that follows secondary school completed at universities, TAFE's or private providers. TAFE's have: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • foundation courses to improve literacy, numeracy and general skills, and gain basic work skills, • specific vocational training which focus on an explicit job such as childcare or welding at different certificate levels, • Certificate I to Advanced Diplomas. Universities have undergraduate Bachelor degrees.
How do I apply to TAFE?	In Victoria you apply directly to the department at the TAFE. In NSW you can contact the Teacher Consultant or the department to assist you in enrolling. Some courses will need you to have an interview to talk about why you would like to do the course.
How do I apply to University?	Apply online through University Admissions Centre (UAC) in NSW or Victorian Tertiary Admissions Centre (VTAC) in Victoria. Your Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) is used to decide if you are offered a place. NOTE: When you apply online through UAC or VTAC if you have a disability you may also apply for Special Entry Admission Scheme (SEAS) in Victoria or for Education Access Scheme (EAS) in NSW. In NSW it means bonus points are added to your score but in Victoria selection officers will simply recognise your result may have been affected by disadvantage and relax some specific requirements.
What supports are available?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • qualified Careers Advisors who can help you to decide which course may be best for you. In NSW a disability Teacher Consultant may also assist you in this decision. • a Disability Liaison Officer (DLO) or disability Teacher Consultant who helps students with disability and their teachers determine reasonable adjustments like extending exam times or providing reading materials in alternative formats such as MP3 audio file. • Financial support may be available through Centrelink. NOTE: Scholarships for students with disability are available through universities and TAFEs (apply through VTAC or directly through the university or TAFE) and also through community and corporate organisations see- www.adcet.edu.au .

VOLUNTEERING

What is Volunteering?	According to the formal definition, 'volunteering is an activity which takes place through not-for-profit organisations or projects and is undertaken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • to be of benefit to the community and the volunteer • of the volunteer's own free will and without coercion; • for no financial payment; and • in designated volunteer positions only'.
Why volunteer?	There are many reasons to volunteer including to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Developing and acquiring skills for paid employment • Give something to the community and help others • Meeting people and making friends • Maintaining self-esteem and confidence • Maintaining a sense of belonging to the community • Developing communication skills • Putting a hobby to use
How do I find somewhere to volunteer?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Contact your local volunteer resource centre or state volunteering centre. Contact details for these centres are available from the Volunteering Australia website. • Log onto GoVolunteer www.govolunteer.com.au . This online tool enables you to search for available volunteer positions. • Contact your local council or neighbourhood house/community centre and ask if they know of any volunteer opportunities or organisations in the area. • Look at your local newspaper. Often there are calls for volunteers and available opportunities featured. • Contact not-for-profit organisations directly.
What supports are available?	Some volunteer resource centres run a volunteer mentoring program in which a new volunteer has a mentor who works side by side and guides them through the tasks.

DAY SERVICES & LIFE SKILLS

What is a Day Service?	Day services support people with a disability to participate in their local community and undertake a range of activities depending on their choice and interest. These may include areas such as daily living, pre-vocational skills, recreation, arts and other community activities.
How do we access them?	To access Day Services you must be over 16, have an intellectual, physical, sensory or psychiatric disability or an acquired brain injury. You can approach the service directly to access them – you can pay what is called a 'fee for service' and cover the cost for yourself Or You might access a day program as part of your funding through the Department of Human Services in Victoria or through Ageing Disability and Home Care in NSW.
Do they all cost the same?	All services have different cost – this could be because there are less people in a group, or just because they are different organisations. Most services will have extra costs that are not covered by funding to pay for the activities that you might do there – these are normally called 'attendance fees' or 'program fees'. These will be different for different activities All services can offer different things to another – you can talk to as many different services as you like to find out if they have the things that you like.
Where are they offered?	Personalised and group activities offered through day services are provided in a range of settings, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Neighbourhood houses, community hubs and community centres • Local sporting, recreation or interest group clubs • Day services centres.

SCHOOL TRANSITION SERVICES

What transition support is available to school students in NSW?	In NSW a student with a disability funded under the Department of Education and Communities criteria and aged under 18 are assisted by a Support Teacher Transition. This teacher assists students with disabilities and their families, in government high schools across the Albury area, to plan for post school options and pathways. Students with a disability in independent or catholic education are supported by their individual schools.
What transition support is available to school students in Victoria?	In Victoria a student with a disability is funded under the Department of Education and Early Childhood Development (DEECD). The DEECD funds schools to provide a process called Managed Individual Pathways (MIPS) to provide support for all students in identifying a learning pathway towards a successful transition beyond school. In this process students meet with school staff and parents to create a Career Action Plan to identify a pathway to support transition to further education, training or employment. The planning can be called a different name and conducted differently in individual school settings.
